KCNRK KCNRK, VHF analog channel 2, is a dual NBC/CW-affiliated television station licensed to Denver, Colorado, United States. The station is owned by the E. W. Scripps Company. KCNRK's studios are located on West 39th Avenue (US 6/US 85 Business) in Westwood, and its transmitter is located on Lookout Mountain in the southern suburbs of Denver. History The station signed on the air on August 15, 1981 as the first independent television station in Denver, serving as the CBS affiliate for the area. KCNRK was originally owned by National Black Network but was sold in 1982 to a group of investors who incorporated as Kansas City Broadcasting Corporation, named after the major market city that was their hometown. NBC Denver was branded as KDTV. The station carried the NBC Movie of the Week and other programs not picked up by the other Colorado stations. KDTV was the only station in the area to broadcast programming in color during this period. The NBC affiliation moved to CBS affiliate KRMA-TV in 1984, after the owners of KRMA changed the station's affiliation to Fox. Shortly after, KDTV switched to a primary affiliation with the Independent Network. Although the station had some original programming of its own, it mainly aired programming from the American Independent Network. During its run as an independent station, the station picked up programs from other networks, mainly UPN and The WB. In 1988, Kansas City Broadcasting Corporation sold the station to Tele-Communications Inc. who would change the call letters to KCNE to match the station's new owners. In addition to the NBC and Independent Network affiliations, it also carried programming from the United Paramount Network (UPN) and The WB. In 1990, UPN and WB decided to enter a cable network and went on to form The CW. Prior to the formation of The CW, Kansas City's only other network affiliation was with ABC affiliate KDVR (channel 10). KCNE was the only station in the market to carry The CW at that time (until 2006 when The WB moved to sister station KDEN-TV). That year, The WB and The CW decided to withdraw their networks from cable. In 1991, KCNE began carrying the programming of independent station WPNT (channel 63) in Green Bay, Wisconsin, due to its proximity. That allowed the station to expand its network coverage to include all of northeastern Colorado. KCNE was branded as "The

Intensity-modulated radiotherapy for nasopharyngeal carcinoma: analysis of relapse patterns and survival outcomes. The aim of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of intensity-modulated radiotherapy for nasopharyngeal carcinoma (NPC) in terms of survival outcomes and patterns of relapse, and to assess the relationship between survival outcomes and the risk of developing distant metastases. The study cohort included 134 patients with non-keratinizing NPC treated at our institution from 1994 to 2008. All patients were treated with intensity-modulated radiotherapy. All patients had biopsy-proven NPC. The prescribed dose was 66 to 70 Gy with 2 Gy/fraction to the gross tumor volume and a planning target volume margin. The median follow-up duration was 71 months. The median survival time was 97 months, with 5-year overall survival, locoregional control, and distant metastasis-free survival rates of 86.6, 88.5, and 78.5%, respectively. The 5-year cumulative incidence of distant metastasis and the distant metastasis-free survival rate were significantly higher in the low-risk group than in the high-risk group. The cumulative incidence of distant metastasis was significantly higher in patients who were first treated with concomitant chemoradiotherapy (CCRT) compared with those who were first treated with intensity-modulated radiotherapy (IMRT) (P = 0.008). Intensity-modulated radiotherapy appeared to have advantages in terms of survival outcomes and patterns of relapse for NPC. CCRT may be associated with an increased incidence of distant metastasis. Beef Network, a Mexican Beef Blog Friday, April 23, 2012 I was happy to share with you, my readers, over at Beef Network, a Mexican-beef based recipe last week. Today I want to bring to you some part 2 to the recipe. I hope you enjoy the recipe today. To make the hoisin sauce, pour the hoisin sauce in a small bowl and add 2 tsp of sesame oil and mix well. To make the peanut sauce, pour the cornstarch in a small bowl, then add the remaining 3 tbsp of sesame oil and mix well. Pour in the next 3 tbsp of soy sauce and pour in the last 3 tbsp of sugar and mix well. Add all ingredients to the hoisin sauce and mix well. Store in a glass
