Upcoming March 17th, 2013.[/p][[/quote]Q: Visual Studio does not show stored procedure as available even though it is I have a stored procedure in my database and when I try to edit it as a stored procedure in visual studio it is not listed in the available items. However, if I right click it and select Run it, it will run it as I have written it. I tried opening it as a.sql file with the same problem. A: You have to refresh your Data connections. Right click on the Data Connection in the Data Sources window and select refresh. Q: TSQL Join between 1 and 3 table I'm trying to write a query but I've a problem with the right syntax or possible it's not the best way to do what I want. I have 3 table like this: This is simple table with user information This table with the user's reputation for the different countries This table is a table that contain the user reputation in different aspects Example (the user is 5 stars in that aspects) I need to join those table to get the user reputation for all countries, but I need to get the user id of table'reputation_user' depending on the table the reputation came from. So, I need something like this: SELECT sup.UserId, sup.UserName, STUFF((SELECT ',' + RepUserId AS [text()] 6d1f23a050
